

Table 3

Pie chart showing which section of a music magazine the participants of the subculture pay most attention to

This pie chart helps highlight that the bulk of the subculture, at least the participants quizzed during the questionnaire research, pay closes attention to the gig adverts. This helps further the hypothesis that the magazines of the subculture are merely conduits of information.